

Online Jobs Board Highlights Careers in Indee

June 6, 2012, Independence, Iowa – Are you looking to change careers or know someone searching for a job? Visit the new Independence Area Chamber of Commerce Jobs Board at www.indycommerce.com/work/jobs. The job board has several advanced features compared with the previous job listings page.

Job seekers can now register as a candidate at the Jobs Board, create a profile, and even upload their resume. Employers are able to search through all candidate profiles and review their resumes. Candidates can search through job listings with an advanced search option and also apply for specific positions online.

“We are very excited about this new website feature and feel it will better serve not only local businesses, but also those living in the community or looking for work here in order to move back to the area,” commented Tammy Rasmussen, Chamber Director.

The Independence Alumni Association would like to encourage Independence and St. John alumni to visit the Job Board and create a candidate profile if they are interested in moving back to the Independence area. “I would definitely encourage other alumni to visit the site and create a profile. There may not be a position posted that they are interested in at the time, but employers have the option to search through resumes and may believe you are perfect for a position they haven’t posted. I moved back to the area four years ago and stumbled upon a position I love that wasn’t listed anywhere. I would have valued the opportunity to upload my resume and enjoy a little online networking,” stated Jenny Yoder, 2002 IHS graduate.

Employers can create a free profile on the Job Board, create job listings, and update them at any time. If you are interested in creating an employer profile, please visit the Jobs Board and click on Employer Registration. You may contact Tammy at the Chamber office with any questions 319.334.7178.
